Print Form | Submit by Email

Information Required to Schedule a System Database

General Information
System name	Program office supported by the system (who uses it)
Function or purpose of the system (can include high-level business requirements met by the system)
Disposition information
Data inputs (include type of data and media formats from which the system receives data)
Informational content of the master file
Data outputs (include formats and media)
System documentation required to read and understand the data	