

Appendix D: Designated NAHLN SIV Testing Laboratories, Addresses and Contact Information

The following NAHLN laboratories have been designated as SIV testing laboratories. Laboratory selection is based on NAHLN status and testing capabilities provided to the NAHLN Program Staff.

There are two levels of participation.

Level One:

NAHLN laboratories that have personnel that have been trained and successfully completed proficiency testing for avian influenza (AI) rRT-PCR in the past year and have virus isolation capabilities.

If there are samples that, according to the testing algorithm, go to sequencing, and the laboratory does not have sequencing capabilities, there are the following 2 options.

1. Laboratories with an existing agreement with another laboratory for sequencing will send samples to that laboratory.
2. Laboratories without sequencing capabilities and without an agreement with another laboratory for sequencing will send samples to NVSL for sequencing.

Level Two:

NAHLN laboratories that have personnel that have been trained and have successfully completed proficiency testing for AI rRT-PCR in the past year, have virus isolation capabilities, and have sequencing capabilities.
