

PHOTO SHOOT INSPECTION	Anyone providing or using regulated animals for Photo Shoots must be licensed and meet all the applicable regulations and standards. (NOTE: Photos of free-living wild animals is an exempt activity.)
Criteria	Types of Photo Shoots include, but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> · photos with people petting or sitting with wild/exotic animals • holiday photos with lambs or rabbits Note: Pictures of people with their pets are exempt. • photos for calendars • photos for magazines • animals released into a natural setting for the photo • animal actors/movie animals • photos for advertising
Conducting the Inspection	When inspecting animals used for photo shoots, make sure that the exhibitor meets all the applicable regulations [2.40, 2.50, 2.75, 2.78, 2.80, 2.125, 2.126, 2.130, 2.131], all the standards for the animals being used, and Policies 3, 4, 18, 21, 22, 24, and 25. When inspecting a Photo Shoot, some specific items to evaluate include, but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • measures to protect the safety of the public and the animal(s) • public barriers, especially for animals not currently being used for photos • restraint methods for the age and size of the animal NOTE: Drugs may not be used to control the animals. • number of employees to control the animal(s) • training and handling experience of the employees • rest periods for the animals • availability of potable water • procedure in the event of an animal escape or attack • safety measures for the movement of the animal from the cage to the photo shoot area and back • housing of the animal(s) when not being used for the photo

shoot

- off-exhibit area, if any
 - safety measures if no perimeter fence
 - transport of the animal to/from the photo shoot
 - variance for public contact with felids
-