

Argentina currently prohibits the importation of pet food containing ruminant origin materials from the United States. Import requirements for other pet foods have not been determined.