Additional Information:

UPC #739048117066, ingredients include bacon flavor, product of China. I could not find any permits for this company in e-permits, please verify if they have VS permit. I checked out their website also, and there is a whole bacon line, including bacon toothpicks, bandages, gumballs, gummy bacon, meatball gumballs, www.accoutrements.com. Please verify if other bacon products are in compliance. I searched ATS, and found the shipment with the bacon mints, coming from Hong Kong on 3/19/10, #UASI7771771164, but did not see any inspection results. They also have a retail location called Archie McPhee, 1300 N. 45th St., Seattle, WA 98103.

Followup Details:

Yes the attached official government testing results resolves discrepancy between the original labeling and the manufacturing statement and additional labeling. The lot number designation fulfills the requirement for a unique identifying mark. The 3,240 tins that are in the Accountment's warehouse under USDA-APHIS hold can now be released. I confirmed with Dr. Sandra Sisson that she will be able to facilitate this release with local SITC. For those tins that Accountments intends to import from China, I am discussing with the Veterinary Services National Center for Import and Export (VS NCIE) to find the best way to preempt any difficulties and facilitate their future release at the port of entry. I should have an answer for you Wednesday or Friday of next week. Jose R. Lozada, D.V.M.

The bacon mints are to be HELD for destroyed since the packaging lists bacon flavoring as an ingredient and by the importer's own admission an official Chinese government certificate stating the ingredient is artificial bacon flavoring cannot be obtained.

APM page: 3-13-3- Foreign Origin Meat and Meat Products, Swine section

Bouillon cubes, stock, dehydrated soup mixes, extracts, flavorings and other edible products with an original manufacturers label indicating that the product contains animal-origin ingredients, and with additional non-original labeling or other types of manufacturers declarations indicating that the product actually contains only artificial ingredients, can only be released if accompanied by a government of origin certificate stating that the ingredients or flavors are of non-animal origin (artificial).

The product as regulated garbage must be handled and disposed as required by 9 CFR 94.5(c) HOLD this product. Do not sell, distribute, move, or destroy the product at this time. Hold this product at its current location until further instructions are given.
