ACROSS
1. The giant African variety of this slow and slimy pest eats over 500 types of plants.
2. The spotted lanternfly’s country of origin. Also, the home of the giant panda.
3. Burn this stuff where you buy or gather it to keep invasive bugs from spreading.
4. This type of tree is a beloved source of syrup for humans, but Asian longhorned beetles use it for breeding and feeding.

DOWN
5. Another name for the color of an emerald ash borer.
6. Mexican fruit flies lay eggs inside fruits, including apples, mangos and this fruit featured in guacamole.
7. A restricted area that prohibits the movement of certain materials.
EXPLORE THE WORLD OF

Meet the pests that pose a threat in the U.S. and learn to protect the plants you love.

TRACK DOWN ALL THE BUGGY WORDS HIDING IN THIS PUZZLE.

HUNGRY PESTS INSECTS INVASIVE TRAVEL HITCHHIKER QUARANTINE PROTECT FRUIT TREES CITRUS

D N Y K K D B D L P Z F E S I
D J N V I K R E S R X X N Q N
C I T R U S V E W O N P I E S
K R A C I A E B Y T G B T W E
G H L J R R V I E E U C N E C
Q A K T T H E F U C B E A T
X W N A J I F V R T N T R X S
P M Y R W T D A I U P U A M E
J Z U Y S C J C N S I L U S G
O G Y E J H D J Y K A T Q Z C
P C F C I H V W Q K Q V S R T
M E S D D I Y R G N U H N K X
V P S P V K U S S P R Y O I R
Q K B T O E I Y G Z A Z W C I
L S H V S R A V P E K M I H M

DOT-TO-DOT OF DESTRUCTION

Connect the dots to discover a Hungry Pest that eats 500 types of plants.

BAD BUG ROUNDUP

Circle the bad bugs.

Trees, shrubs and other plants are at risk because of invasive species. Circle the pests that hurt environments where they don't belong.