The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) prohibits discrimination in all its programs and activities based on race, color, national origin, age, disability, and, where applicable, sex, marital status, familial status, parental status, religion, sexual orientation, genetic information, political beliefs, reprisal, or because an individual derives all or part of their income from any public assistance program. (Not all prohibited bases apply to all programs.)

Persons with disabilities who require alternative means for communication of program information (Braille, large print, audiotape, etc.) should contact USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720–2600 (voice and TDD). To file a complaint of discrimination, write to USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20250– 9410, or call (800) 795–3272 (voice) or (202) 720–6382 (TDD). USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

Mention of companies or commercial products does not imply recommendation or endorsement by the USDA over others not mentioned. The USDA neither guarantees nor warrants the standard of any product mentioned. The USDA mentions product names solely to report factually on available data and provide specific information.

This publication reports research involving pesticides. All uses of pesticides must be registered by appropriate federal and/or state agencies before they can be recommended.

CAUTION: Pesticides can injure humans, domestic animals, desirable plants, fish, or other wildlife — if not handled or applied properly. Use all pesticides selectively and carefully. Follow recommended practices for the disposal of surplus pesticides and pesticide containers.

This guide supersedes APHIS 91-55-065, “Veterinary Accreditation: A Reference Guide for Practitioners,” published in February 1993, and all subsequent revisions pre-dating July 2011.
