

Raw Glands Intended for Pharmaceutical Use for Export to Canada

Raw glands intended for pharmaceutical use derived from all domestic livestock species (including avian, bovine, caprine, farmed cervid, equine, lagomorph, ovine, and porcine species) for export to Canada require export certification using the Raw Inedible Products certificate. This certificate may be requested from the local Veterinary Services Service Center. A notarized affidavit from the manufacturer is required to support the statements on the Raw Inedible Product certificate issued by APHIS Veterinary Services.

The raw inedible products certificate can be found here.
