

Colombia - Important information regarding trade bans and other restrictions

Poultry products:

Colombia may prohibit poultry, poultry products and egg products from any County considered affected with avian influenza. Poultry products or products containing poultry ingredients from such Counties must have been subjected to a heat process by cooking to an internal temperature in accordance with OIE established procedures for the inactivation of the avian influenza virus in meat.

NIES recommends that an import permit should be requested for poultry products that have been heat treated.