

Yellow Grease/Used Vegetable Oil for Biodiesel

Ireland does not require government certification for the import of yellow grease (used vegetable oil) intended for biodiesel.

The importer is required to receive a license from Irish authorities prior to import the material. Exporters should have their importers confirm they have this license prior to shipment.