

Spray-Dried Porcine Plasma (and Other Porcine Blood Products) for Animal Feeding to Peru

This document pertains to the export and certification of spray-dried porcine plasma (and other porcine blood products) for animal feeding to Peru.

Please note that Peru requires an APHIS annual inspection as well as registration with and approval by the official animal health authority of Peru (SENASA). The registration and approval process is described at the following link (Animal feeds and food: Requirements for Registration of Facilities). A facility need only be registered once, but approval is required every three years by following the procedure in the link above.

The certificate statements in the section below constitute Peru's requirements and are the basis for APHIS VS inspection of the exporting facility.

Please note that each lot must be subjected to a bacteriological analysis for Salmonella spp. in 25 grams of sample. Test results (certificate of analysis from an independent third party laboratory) must be presented for review prior to issuance of the certificate. SENASA requires that the test results must be presented as part of the export health certificate package for each shipment of product. The certificate must attest to this.

The product label must include the product name, the name and address of the processing plant, the date of production and an expiry or best used by date.

Product description (product box on VS Form 16-4) is to include the species of origin (porcine) and the quantity of product being exported.

The bilingual certification statements provided below are to appear in the Additional Declaration section on a VS Form 16-4, Export Certificate for Animal Products, and continuation pages VS Form 16-4A, as necessary. Please note that the government of Peru has advised that these requirements must be met and certified accurately and all statements must be included. Products arriving with incomplete export certificates will be denied entry.
