

Non-Human Primate Origin Materials

Hungary does not require certification for materials imported from the United States that are derived from non-human primates. Exporters should have their Hungarian importers apply to Hungarian authorities for an import permit. That permit should not require any APHIS facility approval or certification.