

Animal By-Products (including Pet Food)

Iceland is believed to require the same certificates as the European Union (EU) for most animal by-products. For more information on this topic, please view the information available under the European Union.