

Game trophies of Animals other than Ungulates or Birds

Italy does not require animal health certificates for partially treated game trophies of animals other than ungulates or birds. These game trophies must be partially treated (e.g. dried or salted) and will be subject to inspection at the border inspection post (BIP) through which they enter Italy to confirm that they are shelf stable.

For information on game trophies of ungulates or birds, please see the pertinent article under the European Union.

[For information on any CITES requirements, exporters should contact the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.]
