

Abomasums and Derivatives of Abomasums (“Rennets”) for the Production of Materials for Human Consumption

Italy requires certification for the import of abomasums/rennets (intended to curdle milk into cheese for human consumption) that is under the responsibility of the USDA Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS). Exporters with questions about these requirements should contact the FSIS officials in the production plants or:

APHIS does not endorse certificates for abomasums/rennets exported to Italy if they are known to be intended for the production of human food.
