

Animal Products Offered for Re-Export to Mexico

This IREG note concerns several animal products that have been imported into the United States and are being re-exported to Mexico. Mexico SENASICA has approved the certification statements below for the re-export of at least the following products: partially processed hides and skins from Colombia (various species of origin), finished hides from Spain (various species of origin), processed feathers from China, processed and scoured wool and hair from New Zealand (various species of origin). This procedure can also be used for imported dairy products intended for human consumption.

Please note that a copy of the certificate used to import the product must accompany the shipment. The certificate should indicate the treatments used to process the product in order to qualify the importation into the United States as well as for entry into Mexico. SENASICA Mexico may have specific requirements on a specific import requirements sheet (HRZ) that should match treatments on the import certificate used to import the product.
