

Products Derived from Peritoneal Fluid

The United Kingdom will not accept products derived from peritoneal fluid on the Chapter 4(C) or 4(D) Certificates.

Prior to importing any materials derived from peritoneal fluid, the UK importer in the UK must apply to UK authorities for an import license.

For more information on obtaining import licenses, the UK importer may contact UK import authorities. For contact information for UK import authorities, please go back to the previous page and select "Contact information for UK government (for questions from UK importers)".

For more information on the export of derivatives of peritoneal fluid (and its derivatives) from rodents, non-human primates, and other laboratory animals, please go back to the previous screen and select the appropriate link.
