

Game Trophies

Fully treated (shelf stable) game trophies (any species):

There is no requirement for health certification for fully treated (shelf stable) game trophies, but the UK government recommends that consignments be accompanied by a commercial invoice or other commercial documentation. For more information please see DEFRA's "Importer Information Note (IIN) on conditions of import for treated game trophies or other preparations of animals where health certification is not required (ABP IIN 6C)" available at: <http://www.defra.gov.uk/animal-trade/imports-non-eu/iins/animal-by-products/game-trophies/apb-iin-6c/>

Partially treated or untreated game trophies of ungulates or birds:

For information on the requirements for partially treated or untreated game trophies of ungulates or birds, please go to the European Union page of this website.

Reptile game trophies:

The United Kingdom does not require government certification (other than CITES) for game trophies of reptiles.

Partially treated or untreated game trophies of mammals other than ungulates:

UK importers wishing to import partially treated or untreated trophies from mammals other than ungulates should contact DEFRA to obtain an import license. Such a license should generally not require any animal health certification. Contact information for DEFRA follows:
